GREEKS TAKE SALONIKA FROM THE BULGARIANS

SOFIA, July 1.—Following the surrender of the Bulgarian garrison at Salonika, the Greek government has ordered a general advance on the entire Bulgarian line.

This places the Bulgarian troops in a difficult position with hostile Serbia on one side and advancing Greeks on the other.

The fierce fighting Monday extended for 140 miles and from all accounts the Bulgarians got a little the better of it. They captured one large town and lost only at Salonika.

Harrison, mayor of Chicago, rode near the head of the monster parade in Chicago Tuesday, which celebrated the granting of the franchise to women in Illinois. The parade was made up of a host of officials and the members of the many equal franchise organizations in Chicago. Mrs. Harrison besides being a capable assistant to her husband in his arduous career of politics, is a brilliant social leader and a writer of unusual ability.

South Bend Women Can Wear Anklets Now With Slit Skirt

Anklets, at the very newest thing in feminine adornment, have made their appearance in South Bend. They are to be worn with the new split skirts that, along with modern art, are giving the police departments of American cities a good many bad half hours.

The anklets are to follow the fashion of bracelets, and be worn only one at a time. The pretty bit of feminine vanity is to be worn on the ankle adjacent to the slit. The set includes an anklet and two buckles, the buckles to adorn the pumps mid-way wears.

The new fad in jewelry is being shown at the store of George H. Wheelock and Co. The firm put in a stock of jewelry for the first time Saturday and this is the feature of the display. The anklets come in a variety of styles. A particularly fetching one shown in the window clasped about the trim ankle of a foot form, is of platinum set with French brilliants. The sparkling white of the trinket is in vivid relief against a black hose.

Other styles are links of gold and silver and links of filigree work in gold alternating with semi-precious stones. The links are large and heavy-looking, but give the anklet sufficient flexibility.

The new department at the Wheelock store will aim to give fashionable women of South Bend the very latest novelties that are the fad in Paris and New York. The stock includes many handsome articles in the platinum finish set with French brilliants. The articles have all the appearance of diamonds in platinum setting and the manner of setting is the same.

Another novelty is the sautoir, a ribbon with slides of the brilliants, to be worn around the neck. Fashionable New York women are using them for monacles and for vanity bags.

The stock is handsomely laid out in a case in the middle of the state, and includes hair ornaments, frill pins, shoe buckles, beads, necklaces, earrings, bow slides, bracelets and a host of trifles that are the fad of the moment.

SUMMER SCHOOL HOLDS UP WELL

Circus Day Cut Biggest Hole in Attendance During June.

Attendance at the summer schools has held up well during the hot spell according to figures for the first month. The second month of school began Monday and the classes will continue until July 25. The sessions will close hereafter at 11:45 instead of 12 and the primary pupils will be dismissed at 11:15.

Circus day cut the biggest figure in reducing the attendance, there being only 1,681 in classes on that day. The daily figures for the closing week of June were:

Monday, 1,881; Tuesday, 1,887; Wednesday, 1,865; Thursday, 1,845; Friday, 1,760.

The attendance during the month is expected to show a slight decrease because of the withdrawal of several who have removed conditions by their month's work. Those who have made up their work are not required to attend longer.

KEPT THEIR WEDDING SECRET TWO MONTHS

Claude E. Nicely and Miss Esther Murphy of Sacramento, married April 12.

A secret marriage culminating a romance which started as a case of love at first sight surprised South Bend friends of the couple when it became known that Claude E. Nicely of this city had been married to Miss Esther Murphy of Sacramento, Calif. The ceremony took place April 12 but was kept a secret until Monday.

The bride is a daughter of Frank E. Murphy, an official of the Santa Fe railroad in Sacramento. Mr. Nicely is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Nicely, 1322 S. Main st., and general manager of the Laclede Paper mill.

Miss Murphy is a graduate of the Orton English Classical school, Pasadena, and is well known as a concert singer in the west.

The young couple met when Miss Murphy came to South Bend to visit last January. The courtship which ended in marriage followed immediately.

SKILL NECESSARY TO FREEZE CREAM

Mrs. Coe Tells How to Prepare Ice and Salt—Some Simple Recipes.

Break the ice into very small pieces by using a heavy wooden mallet or potato masher. Put the ice in a large canvas bag. Use coarse rock salt, table salt melts the ice too rapidly. Pack around the freezer can in the proportion of one-third salt to two-thirds ice. Remember when through freezing to turn the water off slowly. Take out the ice and salt and repack, as ice cream that stands an hour or two after freezing is much better than when eaten directly it is made. The freezer should be larger than you actually need to hold the cream, as freezing expands the liquid in proportion of about one-quarter. I seldom fill my freezer more than half full.

When not in use the cap of the freezer should be kept uncovered and you must always scald and thoroughly dry it before putting away. If you will let your cream stand in the freezer packed in ice and salt a little while before you begin to turn it you will save time, ice and labor.

Newly frozen cream is mushy, lacks flavor and smoothness, so it is always best to prepare it in time to be packed and "ripened" three or four hours before serving. In packing, turn off the brine, pack freezer with ice and salt, cover with a heavy cloth or carpet that has been before covering the freezer. Do not let this covering get dry, as it retards the evaporation of water and melting of ice in the freezer.

Water Ices and Sherbets.

These are usually composed of fruit juices, simple syrup and water. Simple syrup can be made at home, by using the best lump sugar, two pounds, and one quart of water and allow to dissolve before putting on the fire. Heat slowly until it comes to a boiling point. Take off any scum that may rise, but be very careful not to stir the syrup. When the sugar is dissolved, add the fruit juice. Boil slowly until it is as thick as heavy cream. Then put in mason fruit jars and set away until you wish to use it. In making fruit ices it is almost impossible to tell the proportion of sugar to be used, but the usual method is one-half a cup of syrup to one pint of fruit juice. Always strain your juices through a cheese-cloth bag so that there will be no seeds in your ice. Remember it takes longer to freeze ices than cream, but slowly turn the crank until the contents become stiff. Then the can should be opened, the sides scraped down and the stiffly beaten white of one egg worked into the ice. This amount of egg with one teaspoonful of pulverized sugar beaten with it is sufficient for two quarts of sherbet. Now pack your ice and cover it with wet carpet and let it stand three hours.

Strawberry Ice.

Strawberry ice may be made in proportion of two cups of strawberry juice to one cup of simple syrup and three cups of cold water. One tablespoon of gelatin dissolved in two tablespoons of cold water, then add two cups of boiling water. When thoroughly dissolved drain and mix with the strawberry juice and then freeze. The addition of the beaten white of eggs will improve it, but is not necessary. Any other fruit juice can be used in making ices in this same proportion and frozen in the same manner.
